Gerald Morris, a K9 handler with Roanoke Rapids Police Department, has served in law enforcement for ten years, with eight of those years as a K9 handler. He has had two K9 partners, and today, is a member of his Department's Special Response Team with his K9 partner "Champ." Prior to his time in law enforcement, Gerald served eight years in the United States Army Infantry, with multiple deployments overseas, and is a veteran. Through these experiences, along with his experience as an instructor with Ventosa Kennel and his extensive knowledge and interest in all aspects of K9 performance, Gerald has become an expert in various specialized areas of K9 training, such as Tactical K9 Tracking.

What is a Tactical K9 Tracking Seminar:

A Tactical Tracking Team consists of a 5-6 man team typically deployed in a rural wooded environment to track and apprehend armed or dangerous fugitives. The team usually consists of 4-5 team members and a K9 Tracking Team. All team members are trained in the skills of visual tracking, tactical formation movement, engagement tactics, and much more.

Tactical Tracking Benefits:

Most SWAT or SRT training develops skills for urban engagement. Tactical Tracking Training develops skills that enable a SWAT, SR team, DOC team, or other fugitive recovery teams to operate safely and effectively in a wooded environment. The disciplines and skills taught in this course are totally different from the normal civilian law enforcement special response team training. This training is patterned after successful U.S. Military combat tracker teams training modules.

Our Tactical Tracking Seminar:

Is designed to prepare K9 and/or SWAT teams for high risk fugitive searches in rural environments. The military combat tracking and police tracking experiences of our Instructors will prepare you for high risk deployments. Seminar syllabus includes K9 tracking, visual tracking, cover officer tactics, containment perimeters, engagement tactics, and much more.
